Safety Evacuation area
An open space designated by the Tokyo Metropolitan Government to ensure the safety of evacuees from the danger of a fire that is spreading after a large earthquake and as a place to wait for the fire to die down. There are 10 such designated places in Shinagawa.

Designated remaining area within the district
An area in which there is no danger of a large, spreading fire after an earthquake occurs and widespread evacuation is not necessary.

Temporary evacuation area
A place that is managed by residents' disaster preparedness organizations at the neighborhood association level and for residents to temporarily gather and monitor the situation in the case of an evacuation. It can also be used as a familiar meeting place for residents to evacuate as a group.

Evacuation shelter for ward residents
An evacuation site that temporarily accepts and looks after residents whose home has been severely damaged or burnt down due to an earthquake or other disaster or may be in danger of being injured.

Secondary evacuation shelter
A facility that looks after residents with special needs who may find it difficult to live with other evacuees at resident evacuation sites.

Welfare evacuation shelter
A facility that looks after residents with special needs who may find it difficult to live with other evacuees at resident evacuation sites and secondary evacuation sites.

Evacuation road
These are roads designated by the Tokyo Metropolitan Government to smoothly and safely guide evacuees to faraway evacuation sites or away from areas that are in extreme danger from the spread of fire.
